a Sysco company

Passion: it's what drives us at Buckhead Meat and Seafood of Ohio.

Since 1982, Malcolm Meats has provided foodservice operators in Northwest Ohio and Southeastern Michigan with the finest in precision cut steaks, chops and specialty meats. In 1999, Malcolm Meats joined the Sysco Corporation, America's leading foodservice distributor, as part of the Sysco Specialty Meat Group team. In 2012, Buckhead Meat folded in Imperial Seafood to bring the finest in quality and processing to the seafood side of our business.

Today, with products packaged under the Buckhead Meat and Seafood Brand, we service Sysco distribution centers throughout the Great Lakes region. Over 130 team members are dedicated to being the best at each step. From purchasing the absolute finest raw materials and aging each product to perfection to processing to exacting standards and packaging with state-of-the-art equipment, our passion shows. And all of this comes with the most stringent food safety and security programs that exceed both government and industry standards. Our meats are produced in high-end production facilities that are USDA, SQF3 and FDA inspected, with an inspector onsite every time the plant is in operation. Additionally, our facilities feature a fully implemented Hazard Analysis Critical Control Point (HACCP) program, Standard Sanitation Operation Procedures (SSOP), a complete Food Safety and Quality Assurance staff, microbiological testing and a rigorous allergen control plan, so that the product you receive is of the highest quality.
